BASKETBALL NOTES

The girls' basketball team of the Arrowwood High School again upheld the record of the school when they overcame an early Milo lead and finished the game by doubling the score on the Milo quintette at Milo Friday evening last. It was a hard-fought game throughout and at half time the Milo fans were highly enthused as Milo were leading 6-3, having much the better of the play during the half. Milo were playing an offensive game and when the Arrowwood checking was loose the score was in Milo's favor. Determined not to be vanquished the Arrowwood girls started a rally in the third quarter which completely baffled the Milo team and on pretty shots by Dorothy Brown and Audrey Ward, the score was tied 6-6. In the last period Arrowwood presented a solid defence with Mary Dumka and Edna Beagle breaking-up many a Milo attack, while at the same time the active forwards, Audrey Ward, Dorothy Brown and Florence Holland played particularly well to give Arrowwood a victory of 12-6. Audrey Ward was the high scorer of the teams, netting 6 points. Irene Hesketh played well for Arrowwood also, while Lucy McIntyre was particularly outstanding for Milo. Brocknridge, of the Calgary Kats-Kits, refereed the game. The rousing cheers of the Arrowwood High School boys aided the girls on to victory. Rev. Mr. Wiand and Mr. H. McCullough accompanied the girls to Milo.

Mr. Milo Pinkerton, Mrs. L. Pinkerton and Miss Mildred Pinkerton of Namaka and Mrs. E. Norman left on Saturday for Chicago.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful, fell in love with Peter Anson, fellow student in an art school. She is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family, and he is a poor struggling sculptor. On their first date Peter spends most of the evening telling her about Camilla's good time, and then decides she must give her up because he cannot stand the financial pace. A chance meeting, however, saves the way for another date. This time they walk in the park. Camilla tells Peter that she is not rich, or, at least, still not so rich. He tells her that he will not inherit the Hoyt fortune. Peter in turn confesses he is not a practical pessimist. They fall into each other's arms. Together, in the park, Peter and Camilla try to arrive at some plan for the future. Mrs. Hoyt, Camilla's foster mother, suspects from Camilla's actions that a romance is brewing. She is anxious to see Camilla, and when Mrs. Hoyt immediately begins to question the girl about the interest Peter is showing her. She manages to present on one occasion when Peter calls for Camilla, but the latter cleverly stage management thwarts her plan.

Now Go On With The Story

CHAPTER XI.

The art school reception was a gay soiree—a gesture of welcome to the new and hold the last drop of freedom and irresponsibility before it took up the grave problems of life and maturity. Ballrooms decorated with clever and facetious sketches floated above the dancers. Some of them were tied to the girl's arms and some had escaped to rest gleefully against the ceiling. Continued entertainers mingled with the guests and added hilarity to the intermissions.

It was the first time Camilla and Peter had danced together since the first and last extravaganza which had almost ruined Peter. He never had recovered from it and she was financially anxious, but he would not limit Camilla how serious his situation was.

Tonight, he resolutely dismissed his anxieties and abandoned himself to the delight of holding her in his arms, his face resting against her fragrant hair that was like the twilight dusk hovering above a cloud of lace-rose. He left her regretfully to meet the obligations of courtesy dances.

Always he would have to be a social diplomat for the sake of his career, Camilla understood that—less he wanted to make some resolutions of his own. He thought fondly, capable little thing, who worked problems out for herself. Life had mocked her, handed her a serious problem and said, "Now, what will you do about that?" With a flash of her black eyes and a flare of determination, she accepted the challenge. Now, he had complicated her problem, and she had accepted that in the same spirit. Brave little thing!

Sometimes, he half decided that he would make things easier for her by dropping out of her life, but with low money would be glad to take care of her. But that was the trouble, she wouldn't let anyone do that—not when she was so near to it. And that other person who she loved was Peter—himself. So he accepted the miraculous fact and hoped for the best.

Of course, Camilla never lacked for partners while he danced with others. He was glad of that, and accepted it, too. It seemed to him that too many fellows stood in the line, waiting to cut in and force him to relinquish her loveliness into their arms. Taking the girl you loved to a dance was like everything else—what you got what you wanted and at the same time had to take something else you didn't like so well, and make the best of it.

Just now, his philanthropy was devoted to Avia Worth, whose object in attending National was what Peter had suspected first of Camilla. She had time on her hands and money in her purse, and nothing to do but look for an eligible man. No doubt almost anyone would have qualified, but just now her hopes favored Peter. He was the kind of man women love their heads over, anyway, and their hearts. He was the kind for which women contrived special traps and of offered generous concessions of principle for bait, on the chance of turning him into their possession.

Contrary to most men's vain beliefs, few of them select the women they want for wives, anyway. A woman finds her man and goes about it to get him. She stops at nothing. Whether she is sophisticated or naive or ill-bred, it makes no difference. Only her methods differ—subtle or clumsy or bold—she gets her man.

Being sophisticated, Avia was subtle. She gave her body to the sensuous rhythm of the music. Yexaton turned him cold. His eyes wandered about the crowded room, seeking for Camilla. His lack of interest piqued Avia. She knew for whom his eyes were searching. But she also knew the vulgar spot of Peter's interest. It was not in his head. Furthermore, she knew that Peter hadn't a dollar in the bank. But his and gone, and no consequence. Ambrose Worth controlled an impressive fortune, most of which he would settle upon his only daughter.

SAVED IMPORTED DRESS

"After a little wear, a lovely green velvet imported dress—lost color as completely that it was not wearable. A friend who had advised me asked why I wasn't wearing it any more. On hearing the reason, the advice I received was to 'renew' the dress. To make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost me less than the price of one package of Diamond Dyes."

She had since used Diamond Dyes for both tinting and dyeing. They kept her equally well. I never have a failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smoothly and evenly. They never spot, break or run, and friends never know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are really at all!"

Mrs. R.F. Quebec.

The mental reactions of the judgment committee, any more than the other entrants can. I'll just have to take my chances along with the rest," he smiled thoughtfully.

His smile tantalized her, without intention on his part. It was the kind of smile that unconsciously conveys a personal confidence. It betrayed him, unwittingly, to this woman who adored him and covered his attention. Her lips moved, but she said nothing. Most touched by, for she was taller than Camilla, to whom he had to incline his head to meet her face. Avia whispered, "I intend to be responsible for a few reactions in your favor."

He shrugged indifferently. "Nice of you to be concerned about me, but I don't want you to attempt anything like that. If I win, I should want it to be on my merits alone. Besides, I'm

Canada Still Holds Record

Largest Cheese Ever Made Shipped To Chicago Forty Years Ago

One of the exhibits at the New York State Fair at Syracuse is to be a "mammoth cheese" weighing 12,000 pounds, which is expected to open the eyes of the natives.

But, as a correspondent of the Montreal Gazette points out, this cheese, large though it is, will be a mere pygmy in comparison with one that Canada sent to the World's Fair in Chicago 40 years ago and that cheese, it is worth remarking, was a product of the eastern part of Ontario, still famous for its dairy production.

"This reminds me," writes G. A. Munson, of Montreal, to the Gazette, "of the mammoth cheese from Canada which formed part of the Canadian exhibit and which I saw at the World's Columbian Exhibition at Chicago in 1893. This enormous mass of cheese was manufactured at the Dominion Experimental Dairy Station, at Perth, Ont., under the supervision of Prof. James W. Robertson, who was then acting as Director on the Dairy Commission. As much 207,200 pounds of milk were used in making it, that quantity being equal to the milk of 10,000 cows for one day in September. The cheese weighed 22,000 pounds net. It measured 28 feet in circumference by six feet in height. A special truck was made for transporting it through Great Britain, and it was shipped to London, England, where it exhibited as a feature of his business in every large city of Great Britain and Ireland."

Syracuse Fair may have its 12,000-lb. cheese, but Canada made and displayed one of 22,000 lbs. 40 years ago. And that record does not seem to have been exceeded since that time.—Brookville Recorder and Times.

Little Helps For This Week

"The exceeding greatness of His power to usward who believe according to the workings of His mighty power"—Ephesians 1:19.

The lives which seem so poor, so low. The hearts which are so cramped and dull. The baffled hopes, the impulsive soul, Thou lookest, touchest all, and lo! It blossoms to the beautiful! —Susan Coolidge.

A root set in the finest soil in the best climate, and blessed with all that the sun and rain can do for it, is not in so sure a way of its growth to perfection as every man may be whose spirit aspires after all that which God is ready and infinitely desirous of giving him. For the sun meets not the springing bud that stretches toward him with half the certainty as God, the source of all good, communicates Himself to the soul who longs to partake of Him.—Wm. Law.

If we stand in the openings of the present moment, with all the strength and breadth of our faculties unselfishly adjusted to what it reveals, we are in the best condition to receive what stretches toward us ready to communicate.—T. C. Upham.

New Process Reclaims Wool

Old Cloth Made New With No Cotton Fiber

Waste clothes and rags can be turned into textile fibers for a second use by a carbonization process that reclaims all the wool, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Vegetable matter, such as cotton and linen, is destroyed by hydrochloric-acid fumes, but wool is undamaged. When a wool suit is held in the fumes a short time the cotton strings are reduced to brittle carbon compounds and the suit fits in pieces.

Old clothes that have been dried carefully are placed in a huge air-tight cylinder, to which the fumes are admitted. In four hours the smart suit is reduced to a pile of woolen cloth without a trace of cotton or linen fiber. After cooling the rags are given half an hour too early in the machine called a duster. A grinding machine completes the operation by ripping each bit of cloth into fibers to use for new cloth.

Seemed Unnecessary

A keen sportsman turned up, by error, half an hour too early at a meet. He jumped off his mount and tossed the reins towards one of the village children. "Hold my horse for a few minutes, boy." The boy looked in scared fashion at the big horse and said:

"Will 'n' bite, sir?"
"No, no, not at all."
"Will 'n' kick, sir?"
"Of course, not."
"Will 'n' run away, then?"
"No, no, of course, he won't."
"Then, asked the lad in a burst of curiosity, "why do you want 'im 'aid'?"

From Napoleon's Tomb

Cutting From Willow Tree Growing On Napoleon Estate

A willow tree the young people that grows on the property of the Mathias Ullrich estate at Port Huron, Michigan. The history is explained by a plate on the tree railing:

"The parent tree from which this willow sprang grew over the tomb of Napoleon Bonaparte in the Island of St. Helena. Cutting from the parent tree have been sent to America and planted at the World's Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. A branch from that tree is this present monument."

The late Mathias Ullrich, then head gardener at the Detroit House of Correction, attended the Philadelphia Exposition and brought the cutting back to the prison. Later he transplanted the young sapling to his greenhouses in Port Huron.

Money in Trees

Australia, strange as it may seem, is teaching its young people that money grows on trees. Under adult guidance, state school children of Victoria have set out 4,000 apple saplings that will be worth $3,000,000 on maturity. Profits from the sale of bark and timber will be used to provide scholarships, libraries, radio and sports materials.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis—

WHEN YOU ARE HAPPY

I know when you are happy.
You do so many things.
You fit about the little house
As though your feet had wings.
With sewing, cleaning, baking,
It seems you never quit.
Even when all else is done,
You take bright rays and knit.

I know when you are happy.
Though others might not see.
The half-smile, the glowing eyes,
These signs are clear to me.

But, ah! when you are quiet,
And when your hands are still,
Across my heart from some dark land
A wind blows, bleak and chill.

God made me wise and strong, dear,
To fend your fears away;
For I would have you happy
Forever and a day!

Saskatchewan Honey

Twenty Tons Hauled Over H.B. Route For British Market

In addition to shipments of grain and lumber, 20 tons of Saskatchewan honey will be shipped on the S.S. Brandon to Birkenhead, England, by way of the Hudson Bay, it was announced by Hon. J. A. Mackenzie.

The shipment is being arranged through the Saskatchewan Bee Keepers' Association in conjunction with the bee division of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, and will be made by the Canadian Pacific.

The government hopes to build up a market for Saskatchewan honey in the markets of the United Kingdom, and this shipment which is due to leave shortly will mark the opening trial in this connection.

WITH LIFE-SAVER GOLDEN PLY

We were certainly amazed when we saw the tests on this new tire. We hardly thought it possible for any tire company to make a tire that would stand up under heat and continuous wear and abuse the way this one does. In addition to all its other features of safety and durability, every new Goodrich Safety Silvertown has the amazing new Life-Saver Golden Ply. It resists terrific heat. Fabric and rubber don't separate. Blisters don't form inside the tire. Blow-outs are prevented. Drop in today and let us show you a cross section of this amazing new tire. It costs no more than other standard tires.

A Reminder!

A few years ago thousands of Alberta farmers petitioned and worked for the building of Alberta Pool Elevators. As a result the Pool system covers the Province in a close net-work.

The same reasons which inspired grain growers to ask for the service and protection of this co-operative system of elevators suggest that patronage should continue to be extended to them on a generous scale.

Guiltily and Not Guilty

We plead guilty to running tractors with lugs on and parking them on the streets, but to our knowledge we have not crossed any cement walk with a tractor equipped with lugs. Adjacent to our property, where the tractor lugs have done the most damage (?) the streets are smoother. The Village would possibly have smoother streets if the drag was pulled by a John Deer Tractor as the lugs would act as a scarifier and loosen the "hard places" so that they could get enough dirt to fill the holes.

A new battery means easy starting in cold weather. Don't let that frosty crink cool your fingers and warm a bad disposition. Instead, drive in now and get a new battery and be ready for old man winter.

Laugh at the approaching storms with a full coal bin. The present weather permits quick service. Don't delay, but see us now about settling once and for all this winter's coal problem.

A good anti-freeze is a big help during the cold weather. Don't let these cool nights fool you. That thermometer may drop lower some night than you expect. Freezing damages your radiator and may cause it to leak later. We can service your car with anti-freeze now, and give prompt service.

Boss: "How long do you want to be away on your honeymoon?"
Clerk (timidly): "Well, Sir—er—, how long would you say?"

Boss: "How do I know? I haven't seen the bride."
